Good evening [REDACTED]

I am writing to you as my good friend [REDACTED] for the PLUS organisation who are currently looking to buy new premises that the council are selling under an asset transfer building. They have to be out of their current building soon due to being evicted.

PLUS provides security for children and adults with very complex needs.

PLUS services mean an awful lot to families, it provides a safe environment, caring for family members and a space to develop life changing skills.

Due to some of the services provided by PLUS, this enables young people and adults to be supported by highly trained staff to socialise, learn new skills and most of all have fun and feel safe.

Services provided by PLUS allow families to have much needed respite, parents are able to work full time knowing their son/daughter are looked after and supported and provides employment within the community.

The support care and guidance has also allowed children and adults to develop their skills to return to PLUS as volunteers to help and support the next generation of children. To me this is a vital part of what PLUS's vision, ethos and heart is all about.

The new space that we would like to secure would allow this service to continue to develop and expand, offering future generations the chance to benefit from what PLUS is all about.

Without PLUS it would be detrimental to not just our young people and adults but to families, staff and the wider community.

I really wish PLUS the very best for the future and hope their bid is accepted.

Thank you for taking the time to read my email.

Kind regards
