Subject: Family Hub, Cornton

As a Local Authority Service Manager with Stirling Council, I had significant contact with PLUS over the past 15 years. I would strongly endorse their bid for The Hub as it would provide a long term home that is perfect for the needs of children, young people, young adults and families, both in terms of the building and the grounds.

The opportunity to integrate with the local community will bring added value in terms of joint projects and developments that will strengthen the relationship.

I would like to be able to say that the public sector adequately supports the needs of people with disability, but in reality it doesn't. PLUS are essential in the sector and having a permanent home will bring stability and opportunities to expand their service.
