Dear [REDACTED]

I'm writing to you in regards to Cornton hub asset transfer application for Plus Fourth Valley.

This charity does wonderful work for the families and young people. It creates a brilliant service for the community and is very thoughtful in how it provides services to help the families. The team that works at Plus plan activities and services directly to benefit the young people with disabilities, within the building they host a seven days a week service for a range of different age groups, After-school club, Adults groups and Weekend clubs. This gives parents a well earned respite to be able to carry on working, rest in the day and at the weekend, in an environment that is safe, warm and caring.

I believe having a new building with an outdoor place such as Cornton Hub would further enhance the service. When I visited the building and saw the outdoor space it made us think of more ideas of how to create activities that would take the charity to another level. The outdoor space is secure and lovely and green with lovely decking for young people to have picnics and be able to socialise together. This a big part of what Plus Forth Valley do. They try and bring young people together and for wonderful relationships.

Plus Forth Valley are currently in an unstable building and soon we will be evicted from the premises. Having this uncertainty over our heads as a team is very worrying.

I ask if you could please consider Plus Forth Valley to be able to use this building to secure our future to be able to provide an even better service for our families and young people.

The community we service will find this location very convenient as the buses stop is right outside, it also makes it's easy for us as support workers to take the young people into town with ease.

I really enjoy working for Plus Forth Valley it's a wonderful place to work and to be able to service our community is such an honour.

Kind regards
